* A 'caña' is a small glass of beer, usually slightly smaller than the British half pint.
One reason for its popularity is that the smaller size means the beer stays cooler in the Summer. Feeling a bit warm? A caña will help cool you down quick!

*CACHOPO ASTURIANO

Cachopo is one of the most typical and loved dishes from Asturias cuisine. Two large beef steaks are stuffed with Serrano Ham, cheese & peppers then breaded and fried to perfection. The cachopo recipe competes with other delicious dishes of this autonomous region like fabada (bean stew) or arroz con leche (rice pudding).
